

2 DICEMBRE 2010 - ORE 9.30
Aula ROGERS, via Ampère 2
Facoltà di Architettura e Società – Politecnico di Milano

The End of the European City?

Lecture by
Hartmut Häussermann
(Humboldt-Universität zu Berlin)

Intervengono
Alessandro Balducci
e Antonio Tosi,
(Politecnico di Milano)

HARTMUT HÄUSSERMANN is Professor of Urban and Regional Sociology at the Institute for Social Science, Humboldt-University Berlin. He is vice-president of the Research Committee on Urban and Regional Development of the International Sociological Association. He is involved in a range of research concerned with social and spatial inequalities, urban renewal, urban development policies. He has just finished an analysis of socio-spatial changes of Berlin after the unification, which could provide a starting base for research on processes of social exclusion.

La lezione è organizzata nell'ambito del ciclo di seminari OBIETTIVO CITTÀ – Percorsi di lettura del cambiamento della città, del territorio e delle loro popolazioni

a cura del Laboratorio Politiche Sociali

Info: rtorri@polimi.it - laura.dimaria@polimi.it - 02.2399.5466