

CONFERENCE CALL for PROPOSALS

Sociology at Sea.
Culture, Economy and Society in a Maritime Perspective

Zadar, 27-29 September 2013

Place: Department of Sociology University of Zadar, Obala kralja Petra Krešimira IV, br. 2, 23000, Zadar, Croatia

Under the auspices of: European Sociological Association (Research Stream “Maritime Sociology), Croatian Sociological Association, Italian Sociological Association (Section “Environment and Territory), Mediterranean Association of Sociology of Tourism, Central European Initiative (CEI), Adriatic-Ionian Initiative (AII).

Local convenor: Emilio Cocco (ecocco@unite.it)

Contact person: Željka Tonković (ztonkovi@unizd.hr)

Sociology is generally perceived as a “terrestrial” science. Even when they speak of de-territorialization, cyber-space or even liquid society, sociologists tend to refer to the absence of solid “ground”, assuming somehow that social relations dwell naturally on the land and not on the sea. A number of metaphors, used and abused in sociological theory describes the dynamic, mobile and ever changing nature of contemporary society vis-à-vis some traditional fixed and solid pre-modern world. The well known dichotomies of classical sociology such as individual - collective, urban -rural, action - structure, association - community, usually do not bring about a discussion of the distinction between land and sea, notwithstanding the theory of K. Schmitt.

From this standpoint, it is quite striking to recognize the lack of systematic sociological reflection on the theoretical and empirical implications of the sea, the ocean and the maritime realm for the development and the understanding of society. Such a gap is particularly relevant when one thinks of the economic, cultural and social relevance of the sea for the development and functioning of society, both in a historical and contemporary perspective.

This conference is the first attempt to fill this gap, by bringing together scholars and researchers from sociology and related fields, to start up a comparative and inter-disciplinary discussion on the different scientifically productive interrelations between society and the sea. The aim is on the one hand to explore the way that sociology and social science more generally can think of the sea as a significant object of study from different points of view. On the other, to reflect on the theoretical, methodological and empirical implications of a maritime perspective for sociological thought. That is to say, to leave some old paradigms “ashore” and stay temporarily away from “safe harbors” by putting sociology “at sea”.

Scientific Committee:

Emilio Cocco (Local Convenor – University of Zadar), Saša Božić (Croatian Sociological Association – University of Zadar), Andriela Vitić (University of Montenegro), Agnieszka Kolodziej-Durnas (Institute of Sociology Szczecin, Poland), Michael Doubrovsky (National Maritime University of Odessa, Ukraine), Everardo Minardi (University of Teramo), Agnese Vardanega (University of Teramo), Pamela Ballinger (University of Michigan, USA), Godfrey Baldacchino (University of Malta, Malta & Prince Edward University, Canada), Borut Kabljan (University of Primorska, Slovenia), Vanni D’Alessio (University of Rijeka, Croatia), Valter Zanin (University of Padova, Italy), Chiara Francesconi (University of Macerata), Asterio Savelli (University of Forli-Bologna), Luigi Pellizzoni (University of Trieste), Moreno Zago (University of Trieste).

Conference fee (flat rate): 50 €

Conference dinner: 25 €

Keynote Speaker: Prof. Pamela Ballinger, University of Michigan, USA

SECTIONS:

Section 1 (Theoretical implications of Maritime Sociology)

Section 2 (Ecology, Tourism and Maritime Environment)

Section 3 (Maritime Cities, Economy and Logistics)

Section 4 (Culture, Society and the Sea)

Please send the title and abstract (200 words) of your presentation or panel proposal by 17 May to ecocco@unite.it and ztonkovi@unizd.hr

If your paper or panel proposal is accepted, your payment should be made to:

Account Number: 2330003-1100163243

Splitska banka d.d.

IBAN: HR53 2330 0031 1001 6324 3

Swift (BIC): SOGEHR22

Reason for payment: "model and reference number – model i poziv na broj00-11505"

Conference Web page:

<http://www.unizd.hr/sociologija/SociologyatSea/tabid/5109/Default.aspx>

About Zadar

The most important information about Zadar you can find on the Zadar Tourist Board website.

<http://www.tzzadar.hr/en>

Air travel to Zadar

Direct Ryanair flights to Zadar are available from a number of European cities, including London (Stansted), Paris, Frankfurt, Oslo, Stockholm, Dublin, Munich, Berlin and Warsaw. Germanwings, Intersky and other low-cost carriers also fly to Zadar from selected locations in Europe.

Sometimes it is preferable to fly by plane to Zagreb and then take a bus to Zadar. Buses from Zagreb air terminal to Zadar are frequent, and the ride takes 3 to 4 hours. Zagreb airport is well serviced by a number of European airlines.

<http://www.zadar-airport.hr/en>

<http://www.zadar-airport.hr/en/destinations>

Ferryboat from Italy

The most comfortable way to get to Zadar from Italy is via ferryboat Ancona - Zadar, operated by Jadrolinija ship company, from the beginning of May till the end of September. There is a ferryboat from Ancona on 26 September at 22.00 (in Zadar at 7.00) and from Zadar on 27 September at 22.00. A one way ticket for a single person in a cabin costs approximately 100 euros. Discounts are available for a return journey.

<http://www.jadrolinija.hr/default.aspx?lang=>

Accommodation

Discount rates are available for registered conference participants at the hotel Kolovare, located within walking distance from the conference venue. The hotel is also close to the main bus station (5 minutes walk or 1 minute by taxi), which also serves as the terminal for the buses from the airport. Conference participants are charged a special discount rate of 328 Croatian kunas (44 euros) per day for half-board (breakfast and dinner are included in the price).

If you would like to arrange accommodation on your own please contact the Zadar Tourist Board or individual accommodation facilities listed on its web pages.

<http://www.hotel-kolovare.com/en/>

<http://www.tzzadar.hr/en>